Curtis Wood, New London, recently completed a series of presentations titled Medication-Related Problems: Recognizing and Reducing Interactions and Adverse Events, which were sponsored by the Missouri League for Nursing. These presentations were held in St. Louis, Jefferson City, Sikeston, Springfield, Hannibal, and Kansas City.

The purpose of this workshop was to be able to understand, recognize, and reduce medication related problems.

The Missouri League for Nursing is a non-profit organization dedicated to developing and improving standards of quality nursing education, services, and health care delivery and is open to anyone interested in furthering the goals of good health care for Missourians. There are currently nine local units across the state with a membership of 2,000.
